

BRUSHING YOUR CAT'S TEETH

STEP 1

- Get your cat used to you handling the mouth by gently putting your finger under the gum.
- Do this briefly at first, and then work up to several seconds of handling.
- Give praise and a special treat as a reward for holding still.
- Get your cat used to each step before proceeding to the next step.

STEP 2

- Wrap a piece of gauze around your fingertip and rub your covered finger against the upper teeth.
- Some cats will tolerate this better than actual teeth brushing.
- Even doing this step without toothpaste or a toothbrush helps remove disease-causing plaque.

STEP 3

- Some cats will allow you to use a cat finger brush or a cat toothbrush in place of the gauze.
- Don't forget to brush the back teeth. You may need to do the back teeth by feel rather than trying to see the teeth.
- We can supply you with a style of toothbrush to match your needs.

STEP 4

- Add CET toothpaste or antibacterial gel to the gauze or toothbrush.
- If your cat does not like the above products, use plain gauze or a plain toothbrush. The abrasive action alone is helpful.
- If your cat does not like the gauze or brush, apply the gel or toothpaste with your finger.

- Brush the teeth in the same room at the same time every day just before feeding.
- 5 SECONDS PET DAY is all that is needed.
- Only brush the upper teeth on the outside of the teeth.
- CET Chews and Greenies are chewable treats that help remove plaque.
- Every cat is different: Use gauze, a toothbrush, toothpaste, and antibacterial gel to find out what your cat likes the best. We can supply you with these different dental products.
- Start at a young age for maximum cooperation.
